Manuel, a poor boy seeking to improve his financial situation, falls in love with Lucia, a beautiful middle class young lady from Caracas. Her father can support Manuel's business project, but he's also the "commando" chief, an extreme opposition group planning an attack to overthrow the popular elected government. The "father-in-law" takes an interest in the boy to make him part of the terrorist plans. Manuel does not know anything about politics. He's always lying and pretends to agree with his father-in-law in order to meet with his approval as Lucia's boyfriend. The story shifts when the commando, under the advice of foreign agents, tries to put its plan into action and Manuel has to make a difficult decision: Either he stops the ill-fated attack and loses his love, or he sees his city fall victim of the plan.

Manuel, un joven con mucha creatividad en busca de una mejor situación económica, se relaciona de una manera fortuita con Lucía, hija del empresario que puede apoyar su proyecto. Para ser aceptado por su posible suegro y poder cumplir su sueño de ser un empresario exitoso, Manuel hace todo para conquistar Lucía, y sin darse cuenta, pasa por divertidas situaciones en la que se ve inmerso en acciones terroristas en contra del gobierno. Manuel deberá decidir si seguir adelante con esos "compromisos" o tener la conciencia limpia según sus principios.
